An ancient tradition has grown over recent years within the Club which gives teachers, city workers, and those on holidays, a chance to meet. This is our Pizza Hut lunch. We hold a sprawling lunch any time between 12 noon and 2pm (or later). Anyone who can make it is welcome. An inexpensive meal and a chance to meet those Christmas spirits. Contact me if you are coming so I can organise tables (if possible).

RUNNING CREEK FALLS - OVER NIGHTER
DECEMBER 22nd - 23rd

TIME - 7.30 pm
CONTACT - Graham Walters
396 3131 (H)
PLACE - Charlotte St, behind the Cathedral.
GRADE - Medium
EMERGENCY OFFICER - To be advised
COST - $13-00

Running Creek Falls are the most impressive falls in Lamington N.P. The falls are a sheer drop of approximately 100m, and the lovely green pool at the bottom of the falls is at least 50m in diameter.

If you come on the walk, you MUST go for a swim (or else have a letter from your mother). On Saturday night we will camp at the Christmas Creek National Fitness Camp. The walk in is not a graded track, so it is not an easy walk. The first 2 hours is across paddocks, so ensure you bring a broad brimmed hat.

Then we follow an old track which is slightly over-grown, with the final assault being a rock-hop up the creek for a hour. If you have a light-weight air-bed or surf-mat, bring it along so you can lazily eat your lunch while floating around the pool. Alternatively, you could participate in a paddling race across the pool and back. Well, Christmas is the silly season.

KONDALILLA FALLS - DAY WALK
DECEMBER 26th - Boxing Day

CONTACT - Paul Mc Donald
288 5179 (H)
PLACE - Charlotte St, behind the Cathedral.
GRADE - Very Easy
EMERGENCY OFFICER - To be advised
COST - $12-00

This is the last walk for 1990 and must be the easiest walk for the year. This is the best way to start working off those Christmas calories. The walk is an easy graded rainforest track, with an excellent swimming hole.

Please nominate as soon as possible, as a mini-bus will not be used, and transport will have to be arranged.

NEW YEAR'S EVE BUSHDANCE - SOCIAL
DECEMBER 31st - JANUARY 01st

PLACE - City Hall

Yes, it's on again, the Morton Island Protection Committee's annual New Year's Eve bushdance. This is an excellent way to welcome the New Year. There is no need to nominate, just turn up and pay your money at the door, and we'll see you inside.

LOWER BALLENGUI FALLS & CHARRABOOMBA ROCK - DAY WALK
JANUARY 06th - SUNDAY

TIME - 7.30 am
CONTACT - Kerry Mulligan
870 8564 (H)
PLACE - Charlotte St, behind the Cathedral.
GRADE - Easy
EMERGENCY OFFICER - To be advised
COST - $13-00

In the middle of summer, what could be nicer than going on a walk through a rainforest and having an occasional stop for a bite to eat and a refreshing swim. The walk is a simple amble along a graded track.

The track winds down to Nixon's Creek, where we take the side track to Lower Ballenlui Falls. We then follow the track back along Nixon's Creek, and wind our way through the palm-filled Hidden Valley to Charraboomba Rock. Here is an excellent vantage point. We then return to Binna-Burra via the same route.

BUNYA MOUNTAINS - BASE CAMP
JANUARY 11th - 13th

TIME - 7.00 pm SHARP
CONTACT - Greg Endicott
351 4092 (H)
PLACE - Indooroopilly Railway Station.
GRADE - Easy, but long
LOCATION - On the Darling Downs, just north of Dalby - High and Cool
EMERGENCY OFFICER - To be advised
COST - $30-00

As we have 3 hours of driving, it will be necessary to leave on time. When we quietly arrive, you will set up camp, then enjoy a leisurely stroll to Tim Shae Falls (Passing Pine Gorge Lookout on the way) to have supper (BYO goodies, leader will supply water for tea and coffee).

Saturday will provide you with the panorama of the Darling Downs, as you walk the entire Western Cliffs graded track system. This is long, but easy walking. You finish off with a jaunt through the deep cool green rainforest.

On Sunday morning the party will explore the closer, shorter track systems. There will be heaps of Rosella's, lots of King Parrots, bower birds with bowers, Kurrawongs, wallabies and lots more.

Being higher than the surrounding plains, it is a lot cooler than down below, or in Brisbane for that matter. You could find nowhere more pleasant than up on the Bunya Mountains. Bring up unusual Non-bushwalking food and cook up a feast to share for Saturday night (and don't forget desert as it is 1/4 of a 4 course meal).

LOVE CREEK - DAY WALK
JANUARY 20th - Sunday

TIME - 7.30 am
CONTACT - Christine Walker
378 0264 (H)
PLACE - Charlotte St, behind the Cathedral.
GRADE - Medium - Hard
EMERGENCY OFFICER - To be advised
COST - $10-00

We will be visiting the steep gorges near Mt Glorious in Brisbane Forest Park. This is graded '5', as it involves rock hopping alongside cascades, climbing waterfalls, and clambering up and down ledges; which, as the wet season may have started, particular care and caution is needed to avoid undue accidents. It has spectacular scenery in this section of rainforest, with a lunch-time swim a necessity. A very enjoyable and rewarding day.

FUTURE PREVIEW
WASHPOOL THROUGH WALK/BASE CAMP
JANUARY 25th - 28th Australia Day Weekend

CONTACT - Through Walk - Anthony Dolan
350 2034 (H)
Base Camp - Russell Code
245 4803 (H)
COST - $50-00 (Approximately)

Yes, it's a long way off yet, however, due to the distances and costs involved, it is necessary to nominate ASAP for this one. Transport etc. will have to be arranged well in advance, so numbers will probably be limited.

Washpool is a NP in northern NSW, approximately 6 (yes 6!) hours drive from Brisbane (via Warwick and Tenterfield). Exact details of the proposed walks are not available at this juncture, however, judging by the calibre of the leaders involved (????), expect some great walks

Congratulations to Bernadette Kent on her election as Vice President.

The Murray family is moving to a new location, so don't ring Phil on his old home phone number. The new one will be advised here as soon as it is known.

Further car stories - whose new red "Oh, what a feeling" FOUR cylinder has air-conditioning and power steering! Are bushwalker's arm muscles degenerating?

Don't forget that February is the AGM - nominations must be in the hands of the Secretary by 28/01/91 - Nomination Forms will appear in the January Jilalan.

PAST WALK

FEDERATION PILGRIMAGE

Greg Endicott

I was happy to see a good number of newer members turn up to the pilgrimage. This year it was held by the Binna-Burra Bushwalkers at Lake Maroom.

On Friday night, upon arrival, we erected our tents and then visited the information hut for a survey of the coming events. Upon reading the notes on the walks, most decided on Mt Moon (led by Pat Lawton), with the minor parties doing Knapps Peak and Burnett Creek, Mowburra Peak, and Minnages Peak.

Saturday dawned fine and hot. We mounted up and moved off, following Pat. After a quick talk with the land-owner, she led us up an old track to the base of the hill, then up a steep ridge, which almost went straight to the top. We regrouped at this boiled lolly stop, and then shot off to peak no one. This was only morning tea, but had good views, especially of peak no two in the distance.

The party snaked its way down the little crevice, and along the wide razorback to the main crack between the peaks. Jonas led us down. On the descent he tried a rock climb or two. We made it to the top - the REAL top, in relatively short time. Views were not so good because of the vegetation, so Pat moved back down the ridge a little to a better (and shadier) spot.

The return was not exactly the reverse of the above, but I think all were glad for some extra scenery.

Dinner that night was around our stoves, amongst our tents, but the entertainment started at 8pm in the hut. Michael Groom gave us his slide presentation of his trips on Kanchenjunga, on which he lost his toes due to the cold. The story equalled the photography. Supper was superlative, and the mixing of clubs, a renewal of past friendships.

Thanks for those keen newer members who attended.

WHITE ROCK BEGINNERS DAY

Greg Endicott

The white rock beginners abseiling day was a joint Binna-Burra Bushwalkers and BCBC effort, organised by Ross Buchanan and the former club.

Yet again, I was gladdened by the number of BCBC faces who attended (For a search and rescue organisation, we had a lot of trouble finding the shopping centre, which was the meeting place). Ross then led us to the White Rock parking area. It was only a 30min walk to the ridge, and then a bit of a search for suitable cliffs.

Ross quickly organised the group into 3 teams, spreading the experience levels throughout. They each had to solve the problem of anchoring ropes on top of the cliff, tie knots, harness people, organise a safety belay, and then hop off the cliff. At each stage, the teams were quizzed and checked by the knowledgeable ones. The idea of the day was that if you thought it out yourself, you remembered it.

Everyone had a go on the three chosen cliffs, and that includes the novices. The Brisbane fraternity of bushwalkers, still has its experienced core. From BCBC, I would like to thank Christine Walker and Dennis Cornock, for lending their experience.

DAVE'S CREEK - DAY WALK

Paul Mc Donald

On a fine Sunday morning, 30 walkers set off for Binna-Burra. The amazing thing had to be that all 30 turned up on time. From there it was a brief stop at Canungra, before arriving at our destination.

Once there it was off on the track. The lookouts along the way provided excellent views of the surrounding country. Lunch was on top of Surprise Rock, followed by a detour to Upper Ballenjui Falls. In all, an excellent days walk. Thanks to all 30 people who came.

PAST SOCIALPROGRESSIVE DINNA

Greg Endicott

The St Daniel's Parish Schol Progressive Dinna - the kiddies and their teachers all turned up (some not too punctual) at St Daniel's for the first course. Here they received their conduct card (to be marked by any teacher present upon any naughty being committed), and the first test paper.

Then we lined up in single file, held hands, and crossed the road to St Louise's, for entree. Prepared and ready for us was the soup, prawn cocktail, and mini-quiches. Test no 2 was handed out. But some of the more wild ones had already started collecting detention points on their conduct cards.

After an hour, the kiddies were herded by their class teachers to St Chris's for main course. Here was the feast. Various meats, salads etc. And the next test, plus a report card. Here all in the class sat around and were allowed to talk, as it was big lunch, and provided the kiddies did not throw food around, they could let their hair down.

We had a naughty boy from St Lawrences/Villanova/Terrace, others from Loretto, Gregory Terrace, All Hallow's, a tall St Columban's boy, and a sporty number from Ipswich Girls Grammar, the naughty trio from St Trinians, and the nasty man in the overcoat handing out boiled lollies (and he went home with an empty packet).

Once everyone was settled and happy, the head master led us through the forest to St Michele's for desert. And what a lovely treat. It was hard to say which cook won. Similarly, it was hard to say who won test no 4.

So, for the last time, we joined hands and recrossed the street (looking to the right first, then to the left, and then to the right again) to get back to St Daniel's for coffee, fruit, and mints.

Thank you to my organising committee - Bernadette, Cathy, Dan, Anna, and Christine; and to my other cooks - Louise and Russell, Michele, Russell Code, Mrs O'Leary, Carmel, and Kerry M. Thanks to those who came in school theme, and to the others.

WANTED - EMERGENCY OFFICERS

The Club requires members to help as Emergency Officers. The task is not onerous, you do not have to be at home the whole weekend, waiting for a phone call. The job entails trying to be home when the walk is due to commence, as well as when it returns. You should not nominate, however, if you won't be home the whole weekend (or day).

Emergency Officers are an essential part of the workings of the club. At present it appears only one family are prepared to help. CAN YOU HELP? If you think you can, please contact a member of the Management Committee for details.

PAST WALKMT BEAU BRUMMEL - DAY WALK

Geoffrey Egert

With a pyjama Party planned for the lunch break on top of Mt Beau Brummel, it would be chimerical to state that this walk was not just a touch out of the ordinary. I hope, however, that this bit of escapism on a Sunday bushwalk provided some enjoyment for those in attendance.

During the week before this walk, the number of potential applicants soared to 36 but thankfully by the Saturday night prior to the walk the number tapered out to a manageable 30. The saga of the Mt Beau Brummel daywalk commenced, as usual from the Cathedral. We proceeded to Rosewood where we had the mandatory 'goody' stop and where it was suggested that the leader spent an unduly long time sipping his tea and munching his biscuits/cake. This person met his nemesis when felled by an allegedly smelly pair of slippers at the pyjama party. (More about this later.) Our itinerary then took us through the small town of Grandchester and along the Mt Mort Road to the King's Road turn-off. There we met Mary Lou Doody and Veronica and Nathan. We drove our vehicles up the rather narrow dusty track known as King's Road and saved ourselves an extra forty minutes of walking for the day.

Having alighted from our vehicles and donned our packs, we then trekked along the base of the mountain to the commencement point of the west ridge of Mt Beau Brummel. Here we encountered that rare endangered species 'ye oldius outdoorius dunnyius'. Yes, it was an old outhouse sitting in all its splendour in the great Australian bush. I explained to the troops the serenity that could be attained by a short stop in this wonderful old institution. Further, the outhouse was absolutely teeming with large moths and spiders. Much to my disappointment this wonderful opportunity went begging. If nature called, no-one was going to answer.

The assault on Mt Beau Brummel proceeded in three stages. At stage 2 we had a bit of morning tea and adjusted ourselves for the final steep climb to the summit of west peak. This objective was achieved by about 12.20pm, slightly less than two hours after we set out. Newer walkers June Greenaway, Kerry Scanlan, Ann Taylor, Kerry Mulligan and Judith Noonan put in a sterling effort. The fitness that Louise Jones has attained from her early morning gym classes became quite evident. Husband, Russell, was not that far ahead during the course of the assault.

Whilst resting on West Peak, we took in the views of the Scenic Rim to Mt Castle to the south. Mt Cooper, Mt Zahel, Laidley Gap and the Mistake Mountains loomed to the east and south-east of us. The initial cloud cover imperceptibly drifted away to make that final steep climb worthwhile.

With the spirit replenished, the troops set off on the 10 minute walk to East Peak for sustenance of a more substantive kind. Andy boiled up his stove whilst the goodies were consumed. The leader set about cajoling (but not bullying) people to don their pyjamas.

Russ "Father Christmas" Code dazzled everybody with his bright red "Christmas Tree" pants. I believe his nephew, who was the donor, was seeking revenge over some matter in the past. Kerry, John Brack, and Brett all sported colourful nightshirts. June, Patrice, and Cathy Mc Neil all looked resplendent in their bright pyjama outfits. Graham, Anthony and Andy were outfitted in very suave shaving coats. Brett and Cathy added authenticity to their outfits with Garfield and Teddy Bear respectively. The judges, including Ed and Judith, in their wisdom chose Russ as the best dressed man and Christine Walker as the best dressed lady. Christine was a visual anachronism with a neck to ankle pink nightgown and a pair of moth-eaten fluffy pink slippers. One of these slippers allegedly strayed too close to Anthony's nose and I believe he keeled over. ('The dirty lout was out.') Litigation is pending. Prize for the most originally dressed person went to Stephen who was wearing an extremely impressive 'Happy Coat' with a golden dragon on it and a Moo hat on his head.

The retreat down the mountain after lunch took only about 1 1/2 hours. We retraced our steps back to Brisbane, arriving about 6.00 pm.

Thanks to all who participated in the 'Pyjama Party'. A special thanks must go to Andy who drove the bus and to Pat, Justin and Nathan who did the pre-outing with me.

P.S. Your bribe at Binna-Burra didn't work Anthony!

PAST WALK

O'REILLY'S - CHRISTMAS CREEK - THROUGH WALK

Paul Mc Donald

This had to be THE throughwalk of the year. Unfortunately National Parks restrictions forced a limit of six walkers for this trip.

Friday night we drove to O'Reilly's, picked up packs, and were off on a walk out to Echo Point. Two and a half hours later, we arrived. The journey outwards was memorable for the glow worms at various points along the side of the track, as well as some unusual lizards with long flat tails. Unfortunately, as we were "in the clouds", only brief glimpses of light could be seen from the lookouts on the way out.

Tents were soon pitched, and all asleep. Saturday was an early rise and pack, followed by a walk up a constant rise as we ascended Mount Worendo. Once at the top, it was time to go down. This set the pattern for the rest of the day, as we ascended, then descended - Mount Wupawn (detour to Rat-A-Tat Hut), Mount Durigan, Mount Throakban (the descent has to be seen to understand), along with various unnamed peaks, on the way to Point Lookout.

One disappointing aspect was that the day was spent "in the clouds", most lookouts provided 180 degree views of --- WHITE!! One lookout, however, yielded spectacular views of where we'd been, where we were going, as well as the valleys below.

Point Lookout was reached late on Saturday. This section of the walk definitely proved to all that distances on maps are very different and deceiving. When one actually walks the distance, things are certainly disparate, for on Friday night, we walked almost as far as the whole day on Saturday!

Sunday we rose, packed, and were joined by a group of boy-scouts, who had spent the night at the Stinson camp-site. One of the adults removed a mobile telephone from his pack, and we were witness to a phone call from Point Lookout!

From Point Lookout, we descended to the Stinson Campsite, dropped packs and walked down to the creek to gather water. Next we descended to the Stinson wreck itself. I won't describe it - don't pay any heed to descriptions or photos, go there yourself. It's not what remains, but the atmosphere and heroism is what provides the mystique.

On our way back, we encountered the over nighters who'd missed out on the throughwalk. We then descended to Christmas Creek for a swim, before encountering the day walkers. All parties then regrouped, for the brief walk to Westray's Grave. Westray's death was a brave and lonely one, but his grave is where I am sure most would love to be buried. He is certainly remembered. Not many who died in 1937, would still have the number of visitors he has.

After leaving the grave and the contemplations it induces, the walk to the vehicles seemed long and boring. Thanks to all who came - Ed T, Bernadette, Kerry M, Brett, and Yvonne. Thanks to Anthony for the pre-outing, and to Anthony (again), Michele and Greg, for driving us down on the Friday.

PAST WALK

SPRINGBROOK BASE CAMP

Paul Mc Donald

On Friday night, we drove down with the through walkers, picking up Cathy Mc Neil on the way. With rain threatening, it was time to put up tents, including the "Taj Mahal" from the Gold Coast. The erection of such a HUGE tent in the rain (which was steadily increasing by then) was quite an experience - a borrowed tent of unknown construction, but eventually several intellects (?) combined to produce a result (of sorts!).

Saturday was, surprisingly, a fine day. After dropping the through walkers off, we began with a few brief walks (top of Purlingbrook Falls, Ranger Station etc.), before commencing the beginnings of the Warrie Circuit, then walking cross country to the Pinnacle.

Just past the Pinnacle, we had lunch, along with spectacular views of the coast. Then it time to return, via the Twin Falls Circuit to our camp. The most interesting part of the return was the sighting, (and watching for a good half minute) of a marsupial mouse, which then proceeded to "hop" its way up a tree. One of the things most noticeable, was how much drier the area was, compared to my last visit. It was even noticeably drier than on the pre-outing.

Sunday was a late rise, pack up assorted tents, then a drive to the Best of All Lookout, then to the end of the Springbrook road for a view of our previous days walk. Then it was off the Natural Arch NP for a quick look.

Next stop was the Chillingham Cafe/PO/Pub/General Store/Video Shop/Petrol Station. From there it was off to Cooloongatta to pick up the through walkers, thence to return to Brisbane.

Thanks to those who came on the pre-outing - Anthony, Pat, and Barry G. And to those who came - Kerry M, Wayne T, Cathy Mc N, and Russell C.

EDITOR'S NOTES

The closing date for the next 'Jilalan' will be 17/12/90. Any submissions after this time cannot be guaranteed inclusion in the January magazine.

Apologies to those who have submitted articles, that have yet to be published. Unfortunately due to space limitations, they have been held over to the January Jilalan.

Next year the Club will require an Editor. If none can be found (as this per year), I will no longer be able to spend the same amount of time on the magazine, so expect to see a very lean Jilalan in that case.

Paul
